

Descendants of Christian and Mary Clymer Gayman

EARLY HISTORY OF THE GAYMAN FAMILY (As written by Jacob Gayman (1843-1931) of Scenery Hill PA in 1921)

"One hundred and forty years have elapsed since the Gaymans first set foot on the soil of Washington County, or, to be more precise, one hundred and thirty nine years last November, (1920). Today, it is pleasing to note, their numerous progeny in western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois sustain the reputation of the law abiding, peace loving people, and but for the paucity of material out of which to construct a veracious narration, it were a pleasurable task to preserve from oblivion the memory of our ancestors and to render a just tribute to the rugged virtues of hardy men and women who braved the perils of border life in subduing the wilderness that their posterity might abide here in peace, prosper and be the recipients at the hands of the Great River of 'plenty scattered o'er a smiling land.' Had they been able to visualize the future, it is a warrantable assumption that they would have committed to writing much that would be interesting to us to-day, but environment was so very unfavorable, their physical energies so constantly and so strenuously taxed that it would be bad form for us to charge them, even, under most carefully veiled insinuation, with dereliction of duty. They were concerned with the varied problems of every day life inasmuch that it never occurred to them that curious and inquiring descendants might, some day, like Dr. Schlieman digging amongst the ruins of Troy, engage in antiquarian research after fact and truth in an endeavor to make acquaintance with those who had preceded them. None of those early settlers kept journals as their eminent contemporary, George Washington, did or daily reminder diaries as some do in these days. Family records, written in German script, in their German Bibles, have all perished. A heavy per cent of the first settlers of West Bethlehem township were Teuton by descent, but a few influential families early affecting contempt for the speech of their fathers, the ponderous German language went into desuetude.

"English superseded the German, and the entries in those Bibles were as intelligible to the young people as though written in Sanscrit. The young children amused themselves with what was to them an old 'Dutch Book', tearing out the ancient wood cuts. The work of destruction ceased only when the priceless relic had been totally destroyed. And, now, after almost eighty years have passed, no records of marriages, births and death can be found, a sad reminder of the carelessness of the elders. The materials for a history do not exist. Tradition supplemented by such documentary evidence as title papers for lands, entry of court proceedings in ejectment suit, etc., may furnish and constitute the sum total of the stock of information available. Therefore, a sketch necessarily and regrettably fragmentary, desultory, and unsatisfactory, only, is attempted.

"Christian Gayman and his four brothers emigrated from one of the Rhine cantons of Switzerland to America about the middle of the 18th century. Unlike many European people who have sought homes in our country they did not leave their native land in a get away from autocratic tyranny or ecclesiastical intolerance. Each of the cantons at that time was a self governing political unit; the religious animosities engendered by the reformation long since vanished; the people yielded a contented obedience to the gentle sway of benign government and were noted, as we are told, for 'simplicity of manners and tranquility of life'. The Gaymans were not actuated by sordid propensity or gainful avarice but, that they expected to better their temporal condition and add to their worldly possessions is surely not a violent presumption. Switzerland, the Helvetia of the Romans, sometime called the Helvetic Republic, is a small country, just a little more than one third the area of Pennsylvania, not over populated from a modern view point, yet the Swiss were barely able to feed themselves, owing partly to the primitive state of agriculture of those days as practised by them.

"By many, the limits of subsistence were believed to have been reached and emigration offered the only relief to a congested population - emigration to the New World across the waters. Christian Gayman had witnessed one famine in his native land and he cared not for a repetition of the experience. Bidding farewell to their native hills, their friends and neighbors, passing by boat down the Rhine River, their first objective was historical Strasburg whence they journeyed by diligence to Havre, French seaport, there taking passage on a seagoing vessel, sailing in the face of adverse winds they landed, after a tedious voyage, at Philadelphia, afterwards finding their way to a Swiss colony in the southern part of Berks County, Pennsylvania. This is supposed to have been somewhere about 1750.

"Shortly after settling in Berks County, Christian contracted a matrimonial alliance with a widow Clymer. Only one son, Daniel, was born to this union, according to one authority in 1753, according to others in 1757, a hiatus of four years of uncertainty owing to destruction of record.

"Prior to the Revolution, naturalization of foreigners was made by the Supreme Court of the province under an act of Parliament of 13th George II. The persons thus naturalized became natural born subjects of Great Britain. The list of persons naturalized in Pennsylvania is published in 25 Pennsylvania Archives N 5, beginning Page 347. On Page 441 of that volume is found the list of names of persons naturalized September 24th, 1762, among whom was Christian Gayman of Berks County. The record shows that he had scruples against taking the oath prescribed but was duly naturalized in a way provided. From this circumstance, some have supposed that he was a Quaker or a Mennonite, but the explanation is that he was an Amish.

"Some time in the year 1781 Christian and his wife's son-in-law, John Kees (Keys), who had married Sarah Clymer, half sister to Daniel, decided to remove beyond the mountains, and in this project they were warmly seconded by Daniel. Disposing of their holdings, they commenced their long and arduous journey from Berks County in wagons, the party consisting of three men and four women, including two sisters of John Kees.

"Heading for a German settlement on Dunkard Creek, they lost their way in the mountains, deflecting to the north and striking the Monongahela between Whiteley and Muddy Creeks. Crossing the river they struck a northerly or rather a north-westerly course to the settlements on North Ten Mile Creek, where, through a land jobber, they located a tract of land and settled thereon early in November. Their rights as preemptors were contested by other claimants, thus casting a cloud over their title which was dispelled only after many years of litigation. The Enoch brothers, living on lower Ten Mile, having purchased the interest of Frederick Bumgarner in 300 acres of land claimed by him under a warrant of survey issued to him out of the land office of the province of Pennsylvania in 1769. Ejectment suit was entered against the Gaymans at March term of Common Pleas 1794. A compromise being affected, two years later, the Enoch brothers renounced by deed of quit claim, in consideration of 90 L Pennsylvania money, all right of themselves, their heirs, etc., to said tract of land and a patent dated March 17, 1796, was issued to Christian Gayman for 390 acres and an allowance of six per cent for roads, etc. November 5, 1813, Christian Gayman conveys by general warranty the same tract to Daniel Gayman and Daniel in 1842 conveys the same by three separate deeds of conveyance, after division, to his three surviving sons by last marriage, to wit: Isaac, John, and Joseph. A tract of 800 acres in Pickaway County, Ohio, which he had purchased from David Bradford, military leader of the historical Whiskey Insurrection, he had, in like manner, allotted to a son Jacob, two daughters Mary and Elizabeth, children of his first marriage, and two daughters of the last marriage, Catherine and Sarah.

"And, right here, we are reminded that our ancestor, Daniel, was conjugally mated three times, his first wife being a sister to John Kees, before named, whom he espoused a few years after coming to Washington County. A son, Jacob, and two daughters, Mary and Elizabeth, were born to this union. Jacob, after coming to man's estate, married a Pennsylvania girl and, after a time, removed to Pickaway County, Ohio, whence, after some years, removing to Delaware County, Indiana, where he and his wife many years ago leaving sons and daughters. Of his wife we know nothing excepting that her father-in-law regarded her with feelings of antipathy. After all, probably the aversion was mutual. Mary accompanied her sister Elizabeth and husband, Henry Harsh, to Pickaway County, Ohio, where Mary married a man named Jones who had served in the Revolutionary War. Elizabeth and her husband, after residing a number of years in Ohio, removed to Moultrie County, Illinois, where they ended their days and where some of their descendants yet live.

"Mary died on the farm given her by her father, in Scioto valley, where her descendants still live. Daniel's second matrimonial venture, near the end of the 18th century, the first wife, having in the meantime passed away, was with a young woman named Pieksler, of delicate physique. She lived but a short time and in 1802 he married Olivia Baughman, who, orphaned at an early age, was brought up by Jacob Swagler, a pioneer settler of Somerset Township, Washington County, Pennsylvania. The offspring of this marriage were four sons and three daughters,

1. Isaac, first born
April, 1804, died Feb. 1880
2. John, born Dec. 25, 1806
died Nov. 22, 1884
3. Catherine, died 1870, aged 66 years
4. Sarah, born June 1809
died 1897
5. Joseph, born July 9, 1811
died March 26, 1884
6. Solomon, died young,
(no record)
7. Nancy, died in early childhood,
(no record)

"Isaac married first, Elizabeth Greenlee. To this union was born three sons and three daughters, George, Daniel, Samuel, Olivia, Caroline, and Mary Ann. Daniel died young. The others attained to adult age, married and reared families. Elizabeth, mother, died Feb. 2, 1839, aged 28 years. Samuel is the only surviving child at this writing. Isaac married, second, Amanda Nyswaner. Three children were born, Isaac, Emeline and Barbara, all of whom reached adult age and reared families. Isaac and Emeline survive.

"Amanda, surviving her husband, died Nov. 5, 1905, born Feb. 12, 1817. John married Barbara Wise. Three sons and three daughters were born - David, Morgan, Isaac, Esther, Lydia and Nancy. Morgan and Isaac died young, the others grew to maturity, married, and nearly all reared families. Barbara, the mother, died Feb. 28, 1887, born 1810. None of her children survive.

"Catherine, eldest daughter, married George Zollars, to whom were born four sons and three daughters - Neal, Solomon, Daniel, Irving, Mahala, Sarah and Elmira, all of whom attained to adult age, married and several of them reared families but none survive. Her husband died in 1859. She survived him 11 years, dying in 1870 at the age of 66 years as before stated.

"Sarah married Samuel Barr. Three sons and four daughters were born, all of whom reached adult age - Andrew Jackson, Samuel, John, Elizabeth, Emeline, Hannah and Isabel. Hannah died young. The rest all married and reared families. Emeline and Isabel, only, survive.

"Joseph, youngest of those who grew up, married Susan Greenlee, sister to his brother Isaac's first wife. Five sons and four daughters were born - Jacob, Thaddeus, James, Daniel, Samuel, Sarah Ann, Eliza Jane, Margaret and Emma. Sarah Ann, Samuel and Margaret died young. Susan, the mother, died in 1868 in the 48th year of her age.

"In this connection it is to be remarked that Sarah, 'Aunt Sally Barr', is the only child of Daniel Gayman whose age approaches his, all the others falling short many years.

"Reverting to the racial head, or tribal source, Christian Gayman, his wife, his son Daniel and Olivia Baughman, wife of Daniel, sleep in the little graveyard on the farm of Isaac Gayman, Christian dying about 1816 at the age of 103 years, Daniel died in 1849, aged 92 or 96 years.

"With respect to the elder Gayman, the accounts which have come down to us describe him as rather short of stature, of athletic build, possessed of great physical strength, a harmless, inoffensive man, a stranger to the sentiment of fear in times of Indian alarm. He never accompanied the other members of the family to the forest to sleep but slept in the house, alone, choosing rather to take with the Indians than with the rattlesnakes in the woods.

"Conversant with the history of his native country, he was thoroughly in sympathy with the patriotic spirit of the Swiss, and with zest he recounted the martial prowess of his ancestors at Laupen, at Mortgarten, Morat and Sempach, fields that discount the long accepted dictum that 'stronger battalions invariably win the fight'.

"Daniel, by birth a full fledged Teuton, was temperamentally, a typical Celt, warm hearted, of generous impulse with very pronounced likes and dislikes. Numbered amongst his acquaintances were many very warm friends and a few bitter enemies. He seemed partial to the society of his Irish friends by whom he was always held in high esteem, favored by nature with a superb physique, fitted to excel in all kinds of athletic sports.

"When a young man, he indulged only in an occasional foot race easily distancing his fleetest competitor. In person he is described as five feet, nine inches in height, weighing in his prime 185 pounds, broad shouldered, deep chested, bowlegged, and having abnormally long muscular arms.

"Hospitable in his home, the worn, tired and hungry wayfarer, upon the approach of night, was never turned away. Practical and clear headed in business, he was socially pleasant, an omnivorous reader, perusing with equal facility English and German books. He was inconsolable when old when his eyesight had failed and he could no longer read.

"Olivia Baughman was 25 years of age at the time of her marriage to Daniel Gayman, and 20 years his junior, but she proved not to be an old man's darling, but a very efficient helpmeet, supplementing his efforts to add to his cultivable acres, to develop his material resources and to properly care for and rear his family. She was a worthy matron of the old school and together they worked out the scheme of life which destiny had allotted them, training their children in thrift and frugality, to be just and upright in intercourse with their fellow men and, above all, to revere the Bible and to make its teachings the rule of their lives, for they were God fearing people of the good old Dunkard faith.

"And now, with the self imposed injunction upon ourselves that we, their unworthy descendants, in reviewing their lives and their work, seek to profit from their merits and avoid their faults, we bid them an affectionate adieu."

Finis

The above historical sketch was read at the reunion of the Gayman family held at the Marianna Christian Church, August 11, 1921. It was transcribed by John H. Linn, son-in-law of Isaac Gayman, for distribution among relatives and friends.

DESCENDANT CHART

HOW TO READ

The Indented Descendant Chart starts with our progenitor, Christian GAYMAN and follows all descendant lines to their known ends. Christian is generation 1, his children, generation 2, grandchildren 3, etc. Any direct descendant is in bold. Each generation is indented from the previous generation and includes the generation number. Spouses do not have generation numbers. Birth and death (if applicable) dates are shown, if available.

Periodically you will see two asterisks () following an individual's name and dates. This denotes that a cousin married a cousin. Descendants of this marriage will be listed under one or the other in his or her immediate family line, but not in both family lines.

Sarah Clymer was the step-daughter of Christian GAYMAN. In this Descendant Chart, she is treated as a blood daughter.
